

A non-circular recording medium on which a recording track is formed. The recording track comprises an optically readable or writable recording area. The recording track in turn comprises a discontinuity where no data is writable or readable.

5    where no data is writable or readable.